Curt Wiens of COMMWORLD Receives Samsung's Top Technical Certification

*Business Communications Professional Adds to His Impressive Skill Set
Keeping Him at the Forefront of Technology*

KANSAS CITY, MO – November 8, 2007 - COMMWORLD, a leader in business communications, announced today that Curt Wiens received Samsung's top technical certification. Mr. Wiens is vice president of systems engineering for the company and is a seasoned business communications professional. This certification will add to Mr. Wiens' impressive skill set as well as keeping him at the forefront of an industry that is known for rapidly changing technology.

Obtaining Samsung's technical certification has differentiated both Curt Wiens and the COMMWORLD team in the Kansas City marketplace because they now have in-house, expert knowledge on this specific product line versus competing business communications providers. This added knowledgebase furthers COMMWORLD's mission of providing solutions that increase their customers' profitability and give them a competitive advantage.

Mr. Wiens has earned industry and manufacturer certifications on nearly every product which COMMWORLD installs and services. He has attained the highest levels of education and expertise in converged voice and data technology including Converged Technology Professional (CTP) and Toshiba Converged Technology Expert (TCTE). CTP is the industry standard certification for VoIP (Voice over Internet Protocol) technology and TCTE is Toshiba's premier level of certification for VoIP.

Mr. Wiens celebrated his 25th Anniversary with COMMWORLD of Kansas City in February, 2007. He began his technology training at the Technical Institute in Rosemount, Minnesota before moving to Kansas City in 1982 to do technical work for COMMWORLD. Not only is he an expert on telephony equipment, but he also understands the connectivity side of the industry. His expertise in circuits, services, and advanced products used for voice and data communication has led to multiple awards from AT&T including COMMWORLD's inclusion in AT&T's 2007 Circle of Excellence.

"Curt is a true professional and is dedicated to life long learning," said Bob Bennett, president of COMMWORLD. "The Samsung certification is a testament to Curt's drive to deliver exceptional service and technological guidance to our valuable customer base. At COMMWORLD, we greatly value continuing education and applaud Curt for accomplishing this significant achievement."
