Ultimate Communications Joins Forces With COMMWORLD of Kansas City

COMMWORLD To Provide Leading Telecommunication Services to Ultimate Communications' Customers

KANSAS CITY, MO — May 1, 2006 — COMMWORLD of Kansas City, an industry leader in telecommunications, announced today that Doug Saviano, owner of Ultimate Communications, L.L.C., has accepted a position as Technician / Sales Engineer with the company. The move enables COMMWORLD to provide its unparalleled communications services to Ultimate Communications' valuable customer base.

Doug Saviano established Ultimate Communications four year ago. During that period, he serviced a wide variety of customers in numerous industries. Mr. Saviano recently realized that it was time to transition his customers to an organization that could fulfill all of their communications technology demands. "It was the right move for my customers and my professional career," stated Doug Saviano. "I am very familiar with COMMWORLD's superb reputation and the quality of service they provide. It was a natural fit for me to migrate Ultimate Communications' customers to their organization. By joining the COMMWORLD team, I can ensure that each customer will make a smooth transition and help them take advantage of the state-of-the-art technology that the company offers. It truly is a win-win for everyone involved."

Mr. Saviano, a seasoned telecommunications professional with 29 years of experience in the industry, will be a welcome addition to COMMWORLD's already strong technical staff. The company's technical team has an average of 20 years of experience each. COMMWORLD understands the value that experience brings to customers and how a high level of expertise can support an organization's quest to increase profitability, improve employee productivity, and gain a competitive advantage in their marketplace. COMMWORLD of Kansas City will continue to provide all of the products and services that Ultimate Communications has offered in the past, plus additional technologies.

"The Kansas City business community needs the communications technology that we provide," stated Bob Bennett, president of COMMWORLD of Kansas City. "With the addition of Ultimate Communications' customers, our vision is to increase our leadership role in voice and data solutions by strategically partnering with local businesses and helping them realize the positive impact of implementing new and innovative technology.

The customers that make the transition to COMMWORLD will receive our award winning service and technical support."
