

Thursday, July 7, 2005

Women Who Mean Business winners are in

Twenty-five area women have been named as Women Who Mean Business honorees for 2005. The Women Who Mean Business program recognizes outstanding women in for-profit businesses who have made significant contributions to their business or industry and to the community. The women will be recognized in a special supplement in The Business Journal's July 29-Aug. 4 edition and at a luncheon July 29 at the Hyatt Regency Crown Center Hotel.

This year's honorees are:

- Kathy Bennett, Bennett Packaging of Kansas City Inc.
- Linda Bennett, COMMWORLD of Kansas City
- Carol Bibb, Honeywell Federal Manufacturing & Technologies
- Carolyn Caldwell, Lee's Summit Hospital
- Joan Cohen, H&R Block Financial Advisors
- Carrie Cohn, Personal Best Pilates Studio
- Barbara Cosgrove, Barbara Cosgrove Lamps
- Brenda Craig, Craig Safety Inc.
- Karen Daniel, Black & Veatch
- Sheilahn Davis-Wyatt, Menorah Medical Center
- Janene Dexter-Kibbe, KAW Development and Construction Inc.
- Virgie Dillard, Missouri Office Systems & Supplies Inc.
- Davy Hartman-Campbell, Fulfillment Plus Inc.
- Laura Lee Jones, LionShare Marketing
- Sharon Lindenbaum, The Kansas City Star
- Lori Mallory, Kansas City Internal Medicine
- Patrice Manuel, P/Strada LLC
- Mary Pat McCarthy, KPMG LLP
- Kandy Meehan, Home Rental Services
- M.A. Mullis, Smith Barney
- Linda Peterson, L.R. Cloverleaf Inc.
- Teri Rogers, Take Two Productions
- Kay Saunders, Bellewether Ltd.
- Susan Schilling, Byeway Books Inc.
- Marty Stanley, Dynamic Dialog Inc.

Judges for the 2005 program were:

- Gary Cook, district director of the Small Business Administration
- Alan Corbet, executive director of GO Connection
- Kathy Dodd, founder and CEO of The Corridor Group Inc.
- Susan McGreevy, chairwoman of the construction practice group at Husch & Eppenberger LLC
- Sue Mosby, founder of Infinium LLC
- Jeanette Prenger, president and owner of ECCO Select.